FIRST WITNESSES IN DYNAMITE CASE

GOVERNMENT SEEKS ORIGINAL TELEGRAPH SENT M'MANIGAL

Charges That He Went Out Alone With Suit Case of Explosives and Awaited Orders by Wire—Telegraph Office Managers Assert Original Messages Have Been Destroyed in Regular Course of Business.

Indianapolis, Oct. 9.—Telegrams signed "Ping" alleged to have been an alias of Herbert S. Hockin, and sent to Ortie E. McManigal, directing where to drop dynamiate bombs on his trips about the country, were sought by the government through the examination of the first witness called in the trial of the accused dynamite plotters today.

Managers of telegraph offices in Buffalo, Detroit, Toledo, Chicago, Cincinnati and Indianapolis, Evansville, Ind., and Salt Lake City, Utah testified.

Originals Destroyed.

With one exception they asserted that the originals of telegrams asked by the government, covering a period as far back as 1908, had been destroyed in the ordinary course of business. The government asserted it had possession of telegrams as received and it called the witnesses to show reason why the original messagesas sent cannot be produced. It was during this period that McManigal and McNamaras formed the "flying squadron of dynamiters," the government charges, often sending McManigal out alone and equipped with a suit case filled with explosives to await orders by telegraph as to what he should blow up. When James W. Noel, one of the counsel fr government asked why the telegrams were not produced, Senator J. W. Kern counsel for the defendants asked the witnesses "you don't know that any such telegrams ever existed do you" The witnesses replied they could not remember individual messages.

The telegrams Mr. Noel said, often were sent by Hockin, now acting secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, and at present on trial, to McManigal's home in Chicago. They shifted him at times, the attorney asserted from Chicago to St. Louis, from Cincinnati to Indianapolis and from Chicago to Holyoke, Mass.

Salt Lake Message Produced.

H. A. Knight, manager of a telegraph office at Salt Lake City, was the first witness to produce a telegram. The telegram was dated Oct. 10, 1910, and was purported to have been signed by J. E. Munsey known as "Jack Bright" one of the defendants. According to the government's charges J.J B. McNamara before blowing up the Los Angeles Times building on Oct. 1, 1910, hid for two weeks in places secured by Munsey. J. J. McNamara, then secretary of the Iron Workers headquarters in Indianapolis was anxious about his brother atfer the Los Angeles explosion. The telegram as identified by Knight and by Mrs. Charles McCarthy, who was the counter clerk at Salt Lake City, was as follows:

"J. J. McNamara,
Indianapolis, Ind.,

"Everything is O. K. Glad C is coming. Patient is out of danger and will get well. He is improving right along. You can depend on me to handle matters carefully. Will wire you if any change.

"J. E. Munsey,
2225 South West Temple street."

It would be shown, the government said, that the "C" referred to was Eugene Clancy, San Francisco, on trial here, who had been in Boston when the Times disaster occurred and who was about to start on a fishing trip with Michael J. Young, Boston, also a defendant, but news of the loss of life at Los Angeles caused Clancy to change his mind and after sending a telegram to San Francisco to clean out the office, he decided to return west.

The examination of telegraph managers had not concluded when court adjourned until tomorrow.

COMPANIES OBJECT TO PROPOSED RATES

EXPRESS CONCERN SAY MILLIONS OF LOSS FACE THEM.

Railroads Join in Protest to Inter-State Commerce Commission—Counsel for Transportation Companies Maintain Rates Would Put Their Clients Out of Business.

Washington, Oct. 9.—A net loss of $33,000,000 a year in the revenues of the express companies and the railroads would result from putting into effect the express rates proposed by the inter-state commerce commission according to figures submitted by the companies to the commission today at a public hearing.

This loss, it was estimated, would substantially evenly divided between the express and the railroad companies. Representatives of both classes of transportation and express companies protested vigorously against the enforcement of the proposed rates. It was asserted by counsel for the express companies that the commission's rates would practically put their clients out of business.

The hearing was attended by about 300 representatives of express and railway companies, and by attorneys for many commercial organizations and shippers. The shippers generally approved the commission's suggested rates, although in one or two instances they were thorugh to be high.

DR. W. H. WEIRICH WEDS AT WATFRLOO

Was Married in Iowa City to Miss Virginia Z. Walker—Will Return to Jacksonville Last of Week.

(By Associated Press)

Waterloo, Ia., Oct. 9.—Very attractive, yet simple in all details, was the wedding of Miss Virginia Z. Walker and Dr. William H. Weirich, which took place at 9 o'clock this morning at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Walker, 1303 West Third avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Thompson of Jacksonville, Ill., intimate friends of the couple, were the only people outside of the bride's immediate family who attended the ceremony, the affair being exceedingly quiet. At the appointed time, the couple took places near a large bower of chrysanthemums, where the rites were performed by Rev. W. F. Spry of the First Methodist Episcopal church of which the bride is a member.

The bride is one of Waterloo's most popular young women and has lived here for many years, having graduated from the West Side High school, where she was ever a favorite with her class. She graduated, also, from Northwestern university at Evanston, Ill., since which time she had remained at home with her parents.

The groom is a very successful physician at Jacksonville, Ill., where the couple will reside, being at home in a beautiful new edifice after December 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Weirich left this morning over the Illinois Central for Chicago and other points in Illinois and will arrive at Jacksonville the last of the week.

ADVOCATES COMBINATION.

President of Western Union Advocates Joint Us of Common Plants for Telegraph and Telephone Purposes.

New York, Oct. 9—President Vail of the Western Union in his annual report today advocated a combination of the telegraph and telephone companies. Mr. Vail said that a telegraph company could not go into the telephone business without substantially reconstructing its telegraph plant to adapt it for toll and long distance and that no telephone company could go into the telegraph field without creating an entirely new operating organization. Joint use of a common plant for telephone and telegraph purposes is outlined as quite a different matter. He believes that by combining the 25,000 Western Union offices and the 3,200,000 rural telephone stations a telegraph service could be given to practically every center of population in the country and by means of telephone reached nearly every inhabitant.

C. P. TAFT TESTIFIES BEFORE COMMITTEE

GIVES OBJECT FOR BACKING BROTHER.

Declares He Was Ready to Go the Limit to See That Brother Went Into the White House Free of Any Monetary Obligation to Any Individual, Great Interest or Corporation."

Washington, Oct. 9.—Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati today told the senate committee investigating campaign funds that he contributed $159,339.30 to aid in electing his brother president in 1908 and that he had paid $213,592.41 this year toward the expenses of securing the president's re-nomination at the Chicago convention.

Consulting a memorandum book, in which he had practically all items he ever spent for campaign purposes Mr. Taft was on the point of telling the committee how the 1908 nomination had cost him, when Chairman Clapp stated that the committee had no authority to investigate the pre-convention campaign of that year, or funds used in the election now in progress.

Taft Gives Object.

Mr. Taft said his object in going into the campaign was to see that his brother was elected, he should "walk into the white house free of any monetary obligation to any individual, great interest or corporation. "On this basis,' he added, "I was prepared to go the limit. I believed my brother was admirably equipped for the position. I believed in his integrity his fearlessness and I believed no one could bull doze or use him. The principal thing to be obviated was the influence of any candidate of any monetary interest."

Dan R. Hanna of Cleveland, backer of the Roosevelt forces in Ohio this year as the president's brother was of the Taft forces, followed Mr. Taft on the witness stand. He testified that he gave $177,000 to the support of the Roosevelt campaign for nomination this year.

Gives Clark's Expenses.

The expenses of the fight of Speaker Champ Clark for the Democratic nomination for the presidency were given by his manager, Former Senator DpuBois as $50,468.50. Senator Watson of West Virginia was the heaviest contributor, giving $10,700 and Wm. R. Hearst, the next with contributions amounting to $8,500. The total contributions to the oroginal Clark fund were $45,948.98. At the end of the Baltimore convention said Senator DuBois the Clark forces had a deficit of $4,590, $3,000 of which was made up by the speaker personally.

Judge Lovett Testifies.

"The Harriman fund" incident of 1904 occupied the morning session. Judge Robert S. Lovette chairman of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads, testified that Mr. Harriman had repeatedly told him that President Roosevelt asked him to go to Washington in October, 1904, and asked him to assist in getting funds to aid the New York Republican state campaign.

Mathew Hale of Massachusetts said the Roosevelt primary campaign in that state this year cost $71,436.56; W. T. Mossmann of Pittsburg testified that $67,183.19 had been spent by the Taft club of Pittsburg for the campaign in western Pennsylvania; C. B. Warren of Detroit, was raised $18,935 for the Taft campaign in Michigan; Walter L. Brown of Toledo, Roosevelt's manager in Ohio could not account for the $65,000 of $127,000 which Mr. Hanna said he gave for the Roosevelt campaign in that state.

Came From Many Sources.

According to Senator DuBois contributions to Speaker Clark's campaign fund came from many sources. Wilbur M. Marsh, Waterloo, Ia., gave $2,500; Senator Stone, Missouri $5,200 besides making up $3,000 deficiency. Mr. Clark contributed $1,500 to the fund.

Senator DuBois said the Baltimore convention cost the Clark forces $12,125.

Charles B. Warren of troit said he had collected Taft funds there, and that no beet sugar company or any other sugar company had contributed.

CLARK AND WILSON APPEAR AT FAIR

LARGE CROWD GREETS DEMOCRATS.

Governor Lays Wreath on Tomb of Lincoln—Both Speak at Granite City, East St. Louis and St. Louis.

St Louis, Mo., Oct. 9.—Speaker Champ Clark and Governor Woodrow Wilson campaigned together today in Illinois and Missouri—the two states which preferred Mr. Clark by a heavy vote in the primaries for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Cheers and great enthusiasm greeted the two men as they appeared in Springfield, Granite City and East St. Louis, in Illinois and at St. Louis.

"The office of president of the United States is the greatest in the world," said Speaker Clark at Springfield; "that's why I wanted to be president. I don't have to tell this audience that Woodrow Wilson was not my first choice. My first choice was defeated. However, I am now for Governor Wilson for the presidency as every true Democrat ought to be."

The governor and Speaker Clark shook hands amid great applause. The crowd at the fair grounds in Springfield wa sa big one.

"My thought about both Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt," said Governor Wilson in his speech at the fair grounds, "is that of entire respect, but these gentlemen have been so intimately associated with the powers that have been determining the policy of this government for almost a generation, that they cannot look at the affairs of the United States with the view of a new age and a changed set of circumstances. They are unable to speak; they sympathize with the poor; their hearts no doubt go out to the great masses of unknown men in this country; but their thought is in close habitual association with those who have framed the policies of this country during all our lifetime. And those who have framde those policies have framed the protective tariff, have developed the trusts, have so-ordinated and ordered all the great economic forces of this country in such fashion that nothing but an outside force breaking in can disturb their domination. And, therefore, the Democratic party stands up in the presence of these gentlemen and says:

"We are not denying your integrity, we are not denying your purpose, but the thouht of the people of the United States has not yet penetrated to your consciousness. You are willing to act for the people, but you are not willing to act through the people.'"

On the train from Springfield to St. Louis and enroute to Chicago tonight was a host of Democratic leaders.

The governor, while at Springfield, laid a wreath on the tomb of Lincoln. He was accompanied to the tomb by the members of the supreme court of Illinois. The governor and his party reached St. Louis late today. After a motor ride to East St. Louis and a brief speech there, the governor went to the banquet of the Democratic Editorial association of Missouri and then to the Coliseum for a big meeting.

Podgoritza, Montengro, Oct. .—TheMontengrin armyopened war on Turkey this morning by attacking a strong Turkish position oppositePodgoritza. Prince ePet,thre goritza. Prince ePter, the youngest son of Kink Nicholas, fired the first shot. This was the signal for firing all along theline and an artillery duel ensued. Within 21 minutes five Turkish gunuswere silenced and the Turks retreated from their first positionon Mount Planinitza. By noon the Turks had evacuated the mountain.

Podgoritza is the headquarters of of the Montengrin forces and amid the enthusiastic cheering of the people Kink Nicholas, with Prince Mirko, his second son, and staff went to themountains to survey thepositions. Punctuafily at eight o'clock the first shot was directed at the Turkish position on the hillst opposite by Prince Peter, who is a captain of artillery. At the bombing of the guns the band in the Montengrin headquarters struck up the royal hymn. That the Montengrin fire was effective was proved by the quick retirement of the Turks. After they evacuated the mountain a great advance of Montegrin infantry was ordered. Covered by a concentrated artillery fire the infantry moved towards the strongly fortified Turkish position in Detchitich mountain, which commands the road to Scutari. Two o'clock the Turks landed troops on the shore of Lake Scutari, near the Montenegio frontier. An engagement followed and still was in progress at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

No Reply From Sofia.

Paris, Oct. 9.—The French office at a late hour to night was still without a reply from sofia, Athens of Belgrade, and the only suggestion this fas as to its possible tenor is found in the remark of the Bulgarian foreign minister when the note of the powers was delivered, that perhaps it would have had a better chance of success if presented a fortnight earlier.

A review published in the conservative journal Des Betes, is a pessimistic concerning the political situation.

The opinion is expressed by the paper that the war will engulf the entire Balkan peninsula because it was decided upon not only by the Balkan states, but also by several great powers. Whether the Balkans win or lose, the situation in Europe is perilous. If they win nothing can stop the allies from seizing the territorial spoils of war: if they lose Russia could never abandon her Slav brothers of the south. In any case the journal argues, the peace of the Europe is endangered.

King Summons Montenegrins.

Cettinje, Oct. 9.—King Nicholas has issued a proclamation summoned the Montengrins to go immediately to the assistance of their brethren in Old Servia, where, he declares, the women and children are being massacred.

"Montenegro had hoped to secure the liberation of the Serbs in Turkey without the shedding of blood but peaceful endeavors proved unavailing" continues the proclamation. "and no other resource was left but to take up thesword in their behalf.

"We are assured in this undertaking of the sympathy of the whole civilized world and we will have the loyal assistance of the kings of Servia Bulgaria and Greece and their peoples who in this affair have ranged themselves with the Montenegrins like brothers."

The proclamation concludes:

"Montenegro is attacking Turkey not from motives of arrogance but inspired by a noble resolve to prevent the final extermination of her brethren."

Roosevelt's campaign by Governor Marshall, of Indiana, came in for its share of condemnation at the hands of the Democratic vice pesidential candidate in his address here to night. The governor declared the trusts had made repeated efforts to prevent the manufacture of binder twine in the Indiana state prison and had employed underhand methods.

The governor then launched into a detailed statement of the workings of the hogh tariff system. He said it had resulted in a protective trade in the articles purchased by the laboring men while at the same time it fostered free trade in labor and& this at the behest of the few individuals who profited by the protective tariff.

New York, Oct. 9.—A suit to test theright of thegovernment to enforce the federal law of Aug. 24th, 1912, requiding newspapers and periodicals to publish their circulation figures twice a year and imposing other publicity requirements was filed in the United States court here to day by the Journal Commerce and Commercial Bulletin company, publishers of the Journal of Commerce. The petitionercharges that the law is unconstitutional and prays for a temporary injunction restraining its enforcement until final adjudication.

Back of theaction, according to Robert C. Morrris of counsel for the complainant, is the American Newspaper Publishers' association. The association decided recently to file a test suit and the Journal of Commerce, Mrr. Morris said in filing his petition, has the sanction and cooperation of the association.

The petition that there are upwards of 25,00 newspapers and periodicals in thecountry affected by the law. It charges that the law is void because it violates theconstitution of the U. S. and particularly the first and fifth amendment and abridges the freedom of the press. The law is characterized as of no benefit to the postofficeor any other department of the government, inasmuch as obedience by the periodicals and newspapers would not "aid or assist in theoperation of the postofficedepartment or in the carrying of the mails or the regulation thereof."

In its petition thecomplainant announces that it will not comply with thelaw for the reasons given and declares that thedefendants are about toenforce the law by denying the complainants the use of the mails. With referenceto that portion of the law which requires that all printed matter for which there is any compensation received shall belabeled "advertisement" thepetition says:

"All suncch mattrs arematters of business arrangement or of favor or otherwise betweenyour complainant and itsadvertisers; and suchprovision of theactis not necessaryr or properto assist the government or any department or official thereof to carry out or perform any power or duty entrustedor granted to the United States by theseveral states under theconstitution or otherwise."

It is charged also that the law if enforced would result in theconfiscation of he complainan's propery with out due process.

"It is not within thepower of congress," the complainant continues, "to enact said act and it is an usubpation by congress of powers expressly reserved to the several states and islegislation affecting matters with which theseveral states of the United States alone have the right to act."

COLONEL APPEALS TO WORKING MEN

SAYS WILSON DISPLAYED "SULLEN HOSTILITY TO LABOR."

Speech at Houghton Comes Before Hard Day's Campaigning in Upper Michigan—One of Largest Crowds of Day Was at Marquette.

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 9.—On the ground that Woodrow Wilson displayed "sullen hostility to labor" in the past, Colonel Roosevelt appealed here tnight for the support of working men fr the Progressive party. That party, he said, had put forward an effective program in their behalf. Colonel Roosevelt's speech in Houghton came toward the close of a hard day's campaigning in Upper Michigan. He began it with two speeches before breakfast. After making what was to have been the last address of the day, he hurired on to Calumet by special train. On the journey to Houghton, where h the journey to Houghton, where he made his last appearance, he was called upon almost at every point for a speech. One of the largest crowds of the day was that in Marquette, where Roosevelt locked over a mass of people who stretched out on every side within range of his eye.

"In this campaign, our opponents rely for the most part on sheer misrepresentation. I am informed that it was asserted here last night that Governor Johnson had not secured a law prohibiting child labor in California, Colonel Roosevelt then read a telegram which he said he had received frm California today reciting laws recommended by Governor Johnson and made effective by his signature.

"Mr. Wilson stated thatt he steel trust was behind me. I challenge him to name an individual interested in steel except Mr. Perkins, who was with me. Mr. Wilson comes out today and says that all he meant was that the steel trust was behind me he thought.

"I won't comment on Mr. Wilson's statement except to say this: if ever I make such a statement as he made about me and I am called to account for it, as I called him, if I can't make good, I'll say so and won't try to get out of it by saying I was speaking of the thought of the adversary. What I have said about the steel trust is right. You have here in Marquette one of the steel plants and you know. It's ex-attorney is the standpat congressman with whom we are fighting."

A man in an automobile in front of Colonel Roosevelt stood up and using his hands as a megaphne shouted:

"That is not true."

"I suppose sir, Colonel Roosevelt called back, "that you approve of the theft at Chicago. You stand for theft and you stand for lying and false witness."

"That is not so," the man shouted and the crowd was thrown into an uproad by the colloquy, and it was some time before Colonel Rosevelt culd make himself heard, "but I am told you represent the coal trust. It is perfectly natural that you should object to hearing the truth about your side of the campaign."

Colonel Roosevelt denounced "crooked ig men" and said that no "side-show trust heads' should have more than one vote. As he finished his speech he waved his hat at the man in the automobile.

ANTS IN AUSTRALIA.

They Eat Up Wooden Beams and Even Dine on Leaden Roofs.

The following extract from an Australian diary will give an idea of the ravages of the ants in that country:

"About noon it got too hot for anything, and I took a well earned swim in a secluded creek, amid shoals of fish, large and small, who apparently resented my intrusion from the way they came and stared at me.

"I found on emerging from the water that a host of blue brown ants had taken possession of my clothes, and when they were shaken out they revenged themselves by biting my bare feet in a way which was exceedingly painful.

"There are thousands of ants everywhere. Some of the ant hills are three feet high and six feet across, but except for a sharp nip at the time the ordinary ant's bite is not noticeable. But if a soldier ant or a bull ant or a greenhead (an ant about one and a half inches long with a green head) bites you it is not to be forgotten because they take quite a big piece out.

"Then there are the white ants (not really ants, but termites), which cheerfully eat the insides out of the beams of the wooden houses and recently ate the sheet lead on top of the Sydney museum. The city fathers thought this was going a little too far, so now the ants are preserved inside the museum with samples of the half consumed lead as a warning to all who would allow their appetites to run away with them."—London Gentleman.

Quick Measurements.

A traveler was detained at a little country railroad station in England for half an hour and was chatting with the station master when the bell rang sharply half a dozen times. Instantly the three employees—station master, ticket agent and porter—ranged up in a line on the platform and stood at attention. A moment later a locomotive with a single saloon car slowed up. The solitary occupant of the car regarded the men sharply from the window, made hurried notes and quickly retired.

"Who was that?" the traveler asked the station master after the man had gone. "Some prominent officer of the line?"

"Oh, no," was the reply. "That was the railroad company's tailor measuring us for new suits."—Boston Transcript.

Scull and Skull.

"Sculls" and "skulls" are really one word in origin, and both at various times have been spelled capriciously with a "c" or a "k." Pepys, the diarist, tells how he went on the Thames at one time "in a scull," at another in a "skuller." The origin of the word is "skulle" or "sculle," a bowl or goblet. While the cranium was obviously bowl-like in shape a distant resemblance to a bowl was also detected in the scooped out blade of a "scull" as opposed to the flat blade of an oar proper.

A Strike.

Mrs. Nulywed—You don't love me any more. I know you don't. Nulywed—But, my dear, you're very much mistaken. I adore you. Mrs. Nulywed—No; you don't. No man could love a woman so badly dressed as I am.—Paris Rire.

A Snob.

Thackeray designated a snob as a being on a ladder who is quite as ready to kiss the feet of him who is above him as to kick the head of him who is below.

Goodness does not consist in greatness, but greatness in goodness.—Athenaeus.

MORTUARY

Fredlander.

The funeral of Louis Fredlander was held Wednesday afternoon at the family home north of the city where a large company assembled to pay a tribute of respect to his memory. The services which were of an impressive character were conducted by Rev. W. S. Phillips assisted by Rev. Howard D. French. Suitable music was supplied by a quartet composed of Mrs. A. M. Roberts, Mrs. Julian Hall, Messrs. C. L. Mathis and John L. Johnson.

Rev. Mr. French read appropriate and comforting passages from the scriptures and then offered a prayer. Rev. Mr. Phillips had long counted Mr. Fredlender among his valued friends and was able to speak of the deceased after a friendship extending over many years. He said in part: "Life is an unconscious gift and many of us go along and think little of it until some trial or tribulation comes. It was not so with this good man who gave much thought to the problems of life. Mr. Fredlander came to this country as a young man without friends or money and so he early learned to be self reliant and to dig out problems for himself.

"Life is a storehouse and it is a great thing that we can store up the things that are valuable and precious and overlook those things which came of that sturdy stock of people who have contributed much to the bone and sinew of this country, men of the type who supported Bismarck in his accomplishments. Mr. Fredlander was a man who thought deeply and who did not live wholly for those things which are seen. He realized fully the depth and meaning of invisible forces. The highest type of citizenship we have today in Christian America is that man who big hearted and open hearted, lives largely for others and so for God.

"Life is not only a gift but also an opening into immortality. Christ taught that there is a great life beyond. From a young man up I knew Mr. Fredlander and he gave to me the friendship that he had for my father before me. When I read of his death I was astonished to know his age for it seemed to me that he was a comparatively young man so keen was his interest in human affairs. He affords an example to us all in keeping young in spirit and interest. He was a successful business man, a deep thinker and was well posted upon the problems which confront this country of his adoption. He always maintained his interest in public affairs and was broad enough to consider public problems from an unbiased standpoint. When Mr. Fredlander came to America he gave up his citizenship in Germany but it is worth while for us to remember that we can be citizens of this country and at the same time claim our right to citizenship in the Heavenly kingdom." The minister closed with a few words of prayer.

The cortege moved from the house to Diamond Grove cemetery where Mr. Fredlander was laid to rest in a grave made beautiful with flowers. Rev. Mr. Phillips said the committal service. The many flowers were cared for by Misses Lizzie Rataichak, Eugenia McPhail, Daisy Dunavan and Fannie Scott. The bearers were William Miller, C. A. Rowe, E. E. McPhail, Fred Henderson, Dr. C. E. Scott and Frank Rataichak.

Brockman.

Henry Brockman, aged 83 years died Wednesday morning at the Jacksonville State hospital where he had been a patient for several months, having been admitted from Macoupin county. The deceased is survived by his wife and several children.

The remains were taken to the Gillham undertaking establishment and prepared for burial and were sent to the old home at Staunton, Ill., Wednesday evening via the Wabash.

Holmes.

Mrs. Mary Holmes, one of the oldest residents of Waverly died Monday night, at 76 years of age, of uremic poisoning. She was born in Morrisonville, N. Y., Sept. 12, 1836, and came to Illinois in 1848. She married T. B. Holmes, who preceded her in death in 1896. The deceased is survived by one brother, Daniel Brown of Virden, one sister, Mrs. Frank Meyers of Springfield, and one nephew, Rev. Otis Holmes, of Algonda, Iowa.

Wylder.

At 8:20 a. m. Wednesday, Rev. J. L. Wylder answered the summons of the Master whom he had faithfully served and fell asleep on earth to awake in the better land.

Mr. Wylder's health began to be precarious early in the year though he kept about and attended to his duties as usual but about three months ago he was obliged to take his bed well knowing that he would not arise on earth. The devoted care of his loved ones was his as long as they felt they could do for him all that was needed and at last they deemed it would be best for him to be removed to Our Savior's hospital which was done and it was there he breathed his last. He met death calmly for he was ready to go and answer his Master's call.

His full name was John Luther Wylder and he was born in Greenfield, April 19, 1853, and was the son of Lawrence and Elizabeth Wylder, early settlers of that part of Illinois and people of noble character who sought to rear their family in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. He grew to manhood in the vicinity in which he was born and graduated from the Greenfield high school which bore an excellent reputation for good learning and he taught school for a time.

In early life he was converted in the Methodist church and at once became active for he felt it his duty to live his profession. He finally offered himself to the southern Illinois conference for the ministry and was taken and after due apprenticeship according to the rules of that grand body he was received into full fellowship and began his work as pastor. Among his charges were Grafton, Litchfield, Gillispie, Medora and Upper Alton. When he worked it was with a will and his nervous system was unable to bear the strain and fourteen years ago he suffered so much from nervous headaches his physicians admonished him to give up the active work of the ministry and be more in the open air. It was a trial but he felt it his duty to his family and friends.

Desiring to educate his children he came to this city twelve years ago and has lived here ever since but he could not give up his chosen work and took service at Riggston and Merritt, Durbin and Providence and did much other transient work which required less effort than the pastorate of larger charges. He was also field secretary for Illinois college and did good work in that capacity.

July 19, 1876 he was married to Sarah E. Keplinger and they were the parents of five children, Dr. M. K. & T. Earl of Albuquerque, New Mexico, L. N. of Kansas City and Misses Pearl and Ethel at home. He is survived by his wife and all his children.

He was a member of the Masonic fraternity, the Modern Woodmen and an honorary member of the Sigma Pi society of Illinois college.

He was a man of good judgment and a sunny disposition, always ready for a joke that hurt no one and one could fraternize with all whom he met and he was popular wherever known. He was a good preacher and a faithful pastor and will be missed and mourned by all who knew him. With his many other qualities he combined a good business ability and conducted his affairs with excellent judgment. The bereaved family will have the sincere sympathy of a host of friends.

His son Earl is here and Newton was expected last night from Kansas City.

The funeral is to be conducted at the residence on North Church street Friday at 2:30 p. m. and the Masonic fraternity will have charge at the grave.

Swain.

Miss Ethel Rimbey Swain died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Swain three miles south of Prentice, Wednesday morning at 2 o'clock, after an illness of several months duration. She went to Colorado thinking that a change of climate would assist her in regaining her health, but not being benefitted she returned home last Friday. Miss Swain was ever hopeful and cheerful, thinking each day that she would recover.

The deceased was born May 10, 1892 and in 1908 became a member of the Berea Christian church. She was a regular attendant and for several years was organist in the Sunday school. She is survived by her parents, one brother, John Swain; and three sisters, Myrtle, Helen and Nellie Swain.

Funeral services will be held at the family residence Friday morning at 10 o'clock in charge of Rev. C. G. Cantrall of Fowler, Ind., who was a former pastor of Berea church. Interment will be made in the Berea cemetery.

Schwartz.

Edward L. Schwartz, aged 69 years, died Wednesday afternoon at 3:40 o'clock at the Jacksonville State hospital, where he has been a patient for the past six months. The deceased was 69 years of age and was a resident of Edwardsville. The remains were taken to the Gillham undertaking establishment and sent to Edwardsville this morning for interment.

Conservation

There's lot of talk these days about conserving the forests and other national resources and it's important talk, too. That's a national interest. But the question that has a more personal interest is that of conserving one's own resources.

USING GOOD MATERIALS

One sure way of private "conservation" is to use the best materials when you build. Using the best in Jax means building with our lumber. There is something individual about Crawford lumber. Every piece has been selected with care and will stand the severe test of time.

A Wasp's Strategy.

A mud wasp was seen to alight within an inch or two of a spider's nest on the side opposite the opening. Creeping around toward the entrance to the nest, the wasp stopped a little short of it and for a moment remained perfectly quiet. Then, reaching out one of his antennae, he wriggled it before the opening. A moment later he withdrew the "feeler." This overture had the desired effect, inasmuch as the head of the household, a big spider, came out to see what was wrong and to set it to rights. No sooner had the spider emerged to that point at which it was at the worst disadvantage than the wasp with a quick movement thrust its sting into the body of its foe, killing it easily and almost instantly. The experiment was repeated by the wasp, and when there was no response from the inside he evidently became satisfied that he held the fort. At all events, he proceeded to enter the nest and slaughter the young spiders, which were lugged off one at a time.—Harper's Weekly.

Belgium's Curious Land Law.

One of the curious phases of the land law in Belgium is that the earth of a landowner beyond a certain depth does not belong to him. Should the owner of the surface discover a coal or gold deposit underlying his property he must first obtain a government concession before he can begin mining operations. The land beyond the prescribed depth in which wealth in the raw has been discovered may be conceded to a person other than the surface owner, who may operate under certain government regulations, one of which is that the owner of the surface is entitled to 3 per cent of the value extracted. The mine pays to the government an amount determined by the value and importance of the concession, after which it must pay to the government a sum proportioned to the value of the total extraction.

Great Expectations.

Aunt Sallie came to the town's Lady Bountiful one day and asked for the loan of a dollar.

"What do you want a dollar for, Aunt Sallie?" the Lady Bountiful inquired.

"Please, ma'am," said Aunt Sallie, "I'm goin' to git married."

"But if your man hasn't even a dollar to pay for the marriage license how will the pair of you get along?"

"Well, ma'am," said Aunt Sallie, "tomorrow's your birthday, and we're both comin' to your picnic in the birch woods. You always give us somethin' to take home from your birthday picnic, and the day after there's your usual free basket distribution for the unemployed. That'll keep us a week easy, and by that time Joe and me'll be on our feet, mebbe."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

SHAKESPEARE'S WIFE.

And the Interlined Bequest In the Poet's Last Testament.

Obscure as are nearly all the points in Shakespeare's life, it is known that his wife's maiden name was Anne Hathaway and that her father was a substantial yeoman at a village near Stratford-on-Avon. Shakespeare was barely nineteen, while Anne was twenty-six years old, when they married. The marriage bond, one of the few papers connected with Shakespeare's life, is dated November, 1582. Little is known of their domestic life.

One circumstance that seems to tell against any strong affection on the part of Shakespeare is that he drew his will—or some one drew it for him—without mentioning the wife, and then a few words interlined gave the item, "I give unto my wife my second best bed, with the furniture." This interlined bequest has been taken by some as a proof that in making his will he had forgotten her, only to remember her by a slighting bequest.

On the other hand, it has been pointed out that Mrs. Shakespeare would by law have a third of her husband's possessions, and for that reason there would be less occasion to remember her with special gifts of affection.

She died on Aug. 6, 1623, and was buried two days later in Stratford church. At death she was sixty-seven years old. Shakespeare died at the age of fifty-two years.

LEARNED THE LESSON.

Then the Igorrotes Spread the Glad Greeting Broadcast.

Some experiences of the first days of schoolteaching in the Philippines are described by Alice M. Kelly in the Manila Times. She went among the Igorrotes in November, 1901, so that she can really be considered a veteran.

The natives were frightened at the sight of an American woman, and not even prized dainties like sardines could bring them to her. They spoke no English or Spanish, and she had not a word of Igorrote.

But she resolved to break this silence, and, catching one old man who could not run, she repeated over and over again, "Good morning, Mrs. Kelly," till at last, to escape, he repeated the words after her. Not long after she heard that Americans were being greeted, regardless of sex, with a cheery "Good morning, Mrs. Kelly."

And, oddest of all, in a courtroom several Igorrotes solemnly walked up to the judges' bench and, bowing deeply, said, "Good morning, Mrs. Kelly," evidently well satisfied that they had done the correct thing.

The school which Mrs. Kelly founded has become the Bua school.

Finding New Friends.

Suppose a new friendship enters into your life. If the man or woman is worth anything to you they ought to be worth a great deal. They ought to advance and quicken your development as you theirs. They ought to make you more complex, more sympathetic with the great mankind. One knows—he is a poor person who does not—how delightful the first rush of feeling is, when as yet we only hope we have found another friend, another soul which can touch ours. Old things become new. It is like dew upon a thirsty meadow. Fresh faculties are developed. A fresh eagerness seizes upon the old. We look forward to exploring a new soul as men who have found a new continent.—Frances E. Willard.

Handling a Rifle.

The rifle for rapid firing should have shotgun weight, shotgun balance, shotgun trigger pull, shotgun fit and the sights must be such as can be caught instantly without effort in alignment. The hands grasp the piece firmly, not with the rifleman's loose grip, but the left arm pushes forward while the right draws back, and the trigger is pulled by transferring the drawing back force to the trigger finger and not by any conscious crooking of that finger. The moment the bead covers the mark the bullet must be under way, be the aim good or bad.—Outing.

His Best Friend.

Many great writers besides Cicero and Emerson have written on friendship, but it may be doubted whether any essayist had a more definite idea than a small boy who was recently asked what he meant by "best friend." "My best friend," he replied, "is a person who knows me and yet likes me."—Collier's.

Both Punished.

Whims of Ibsen.

Like many another man great in his writings, Henrik Ibsen was not without his foibles. Scorning company as he professed to do and declaring always for solitude, he nevertheless delighted to be dined, and to invite him to a banquet in his own especial honor was to give the great man unalloyed pleasure. In his latter days, too, he developed a passion for decorations, of which he received a large number from his own and foreign monarchs, and on public occasions he would wear all his insignia as probably the most decorated author in the world. It was on public occasions that Ibsen would carry a small mirror and comb in the crown of his hat, and "coram populo" would proceed to arrange his bushy hair and whiskers.

Dyeing.

The practice of dyeing is so ancient that it would be folly to attempt to say where or when it originated. The place or period of its genesis no one can tell or even guess. As far back as history or tradition can take us we find the dyeing vat. Phoenicia was famous for its rich dyes, as was Egypt also. Modern chemistry does not seem to add much to the efficacy of the art. The colors of the most ancient times of which we have any knowledge were as "fast" as any that can be made today. In fact, it is held by some authorities that the men of four or five thousand years ago possessed secrets about dyeing that would be greatly appreciated by us if we could get hold of them.—New York American.

Ma Knew, if He Didn't.

"Are you going to marry Sister Ruth?" asked the small boy of the young man who had been invited to Sunday dinner.

"That's just what I thought," said the boy. "Well, ma says you are."—Ladies' Home Journal.

GOOD RESOLUTIONS

Those that make for comfort, convenience and economy and are lived up to—such are the resolutions to install gas in the home, as a means for lighting, heating and cooking. Certainly no intelligent man or woman today would be without gas unless they were where it could not be secured. As a matter of fact, people in the country realize so fully its advantages that they have imitated it by installing acetylene plants, which are extremely costly. However, for the small sum of $1.25 per room, you can have gas in your home. Why not see us today about this matter?

Political Notes And Comment

EX GOVERNOR YATES TO SPEAK

Will Spend Day in Morgan County Making Addresses in Behalf of Republican Ticket—Night Meeting in Jacksonville.

M. L. Hildreth, chairman of the Morgan County Republican committee received notice yesterday that Former Governor Yates will spend Wednesday, Oct. 16th in Morgan county making speeches in behalf of the Republican ticket. The plan is to take the former governor in an automobile for speeches at various points in the county and to have a great mass meeting in Jacksonville at night.

Judge Yates is famous both as an orator and as a campaigner and his long time friends in all parts of the county will be glad to have this opportunity of hearing him.

KNOWS THE PEOPLE.

Springfield Journal: One of the leading Republican newspapers in southern Illinois says it sees no reason why Andrew Russel should not have the election as state treasurer this year by a practical unanimous vote, and the paper mentioned adds that "Mr. Russel is not only a good man to whom to entrust the state's cash, but he is all-round and practical."

This incidental remark touches upon a fact in regard to the Republican candidate for treasurer which not everybody knows. He was born in Jacksonville and has known central Illinois all his life. He is a comparatively young man, but he has known and carefully observed the conditions under which thepeople live and noted the improvement that has bene made.

He told a friend recently that he hoped to see a reduction of the cost of living, but he felt sure few people recognize how different living expense formerly was. "I can remember," he said, "when our people had to pay $18 for a barrel of flour, and it was a great deal harder to get $18 then than it is now. There was a time when the people in this portion of Illinois seldom had coffee in their houses. They supplied the place with substitutes made of grain. That was not at all an uncommon thing when I was a boy, and the people appeared to be quite happy and not to mind their deprivation or look upon it as a hardship."

So it happens that Mr. Russel has the advantage of being not only a good and trustworthy man for such a duty as taking care of the state's money, but is familiar, as a matter of personal experience, with the conditions under which the people live and have lived. That is an advantage of no small consequence in a public man, and goes a long way toward explaining the satisfactory manner in which Mr. Russel has been able to conduct public business in all positions he has ever held. He understands the people and knows what hey want. He is one of them, and he has lived with them in all the different positions in which they have been placed. This constitutes the knowledge which is the basis of sensible and serviceable human sympathy.

J. C. O'NEAL GIVES VIEW OF ROOSEVELT.

To the Jacksonville Journal: I was very much impressed with the wholesome truths our friend, McCausland gave concerning the Bull Moose candidate in your issue a few days ago. I want to add a bit of testimony concerning his gratitude to the party that gave him its loyal support for many years. He passed through our town a short time ago; it was the noon hour and five or six hundred school children gathered at the depot to see and hear the man who had twice been president of the United States. It was an opportunity to have said some word that might have been an inspiration to someboy or girl. When his train pulled in he was standing on the rear platform and this is what he said: "The convention at Chicago stole the nomination away fom me and any man who votes for Taft endorses theft and is not better than a pickpocket." Itis possible the national Republican committee deem it necessary to send the ablest speakers over the country to check theinfluence of this bully, bushwhacker of public decency, this most uncouth man that ever sat in the presidential chair? It is a very pretty custom for the children inWashington to gather and roll eggs at Easter on the white house lawn. If the Bull Moose should be elected it would be in harmony with his makeup and his idea of progressiveness tochange theprogram and have a bull fight on the lawn every Sunday morning.

PHYSICIANS TELL THEIR PREFERENCES

Straw Vote is Taken Among Morgan County Doctors—Forty-four Cast Votes.

A straw vote just taken among Morgan county physicians as to their preference among candidates for the presidency and the governorship has resulted with the honors awarded to Wilson and Funk. There are seventy-four physicians in Morgan county and fifty-six of them were interviewed on the subject. On the presidency twelve were non-commital and on the governship nineteen did not express themselves. Of those not giving an opinion six are holding positions under civil service rules and are not permitted to take part in even this kind of a political affair.

The vote taken resulted as follows: For president, 44 physicians lows:

For president, 44 physicians voting, Taft, 8; Roosevelt, 13; Wilson, 23.

For governor, 37 physicians voting, Deneen, 11; Dunne, 5; Funk, 21.

In analyzing this vote with reference to the presidency one physician said: "Well it seems to me that the fact that Wilson is of an intellectual and scholarly type naturally appeals to professional men. Then too the Democrats usually win in October."

During his administration, Gov. Deneen has had some differences with the Illinois State Medical society and that fact may account for some opposition toward him. A straw vote among any special class or profession can hardly be relied upon as an index of general sentiment of conditions.

BULL MOOSERS LOSING OUT.

Chairman of Republican Central Committee of Morgan County Makes Statement.

Quincy Whig:—"Take it from me that the bull moose sentiment is on the wane in Illinois," said M. L. Hildreth, of Jacksonville, to a Whig reporter last night.

Mr. Hildreth is chairman of the Republican central committee of Morgan county and what prompted him to make the statement in the foregoing is because he had just returned from a long trip over the state, in which he had ample opportunity to find out what the actual sentiment was.

"Every county that I visited I find that the majority of the voters are deserting Roosevelt and Funk and coming over to Deneen and Taft," is the way that Mr. Hildreth put it, and he spoke as if he knew exactly what he was talking about.

HAS INAUGURATED NUMEROUS REFORMS.

State Chairman West Tells of the Advances Made by the Deneen Administration.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—"If the spirit of justice prevails in Illinois as it has in the past," said State Chairman Roy O. West, "there can be no doubt of the election of Gov. Deneen and the return of the present administration. Under no other executive in our history have such strides been made in the inauguration of desirable reforms and in the enactment of so much remedial legislation as under the administration which is drawing to a close.

"Each of the three great classes of our population—business men, farmers and wage earners—has profited by the zealous attention to its needs which has been given by Gov. Deneen, attention which developed quickly into the laws each felt it required to meet its own peculiar conditons. Such a record certainly merits indorsement by thevoters.

"How Gov. Deneen has hearkened to the will of the people of the state can be shown briefly in this way:

"He promised to rehabilitate the state charitable institutions and remove them from politics, and he did it; but to do so it was necessary for him to weather one of the most scandalous attcks ever made on state officials by men who had been profiting on the misfortunes of the state's wards.

"He promised to give a state wide civil service law, and he did it; and to day merit, not politics, is the gauze of the qualifications for the state's employes.

"He promised to give a direct primary law, and he did it; but it was necessary for him stand on guard and repulse many attacks by spoilsmen before he was successful.

"He promised to enact legislation which would protect the health and life of labor, and he did it; and in laws desired by organized labor Illinois stands at thehead of thelist of states.

"He promised to increase the powers of the railroad and warehouse commission and he did it; and even the smallest shipper in the state has benefitted by reduced freight and express rates.

"He promised to strengthen the insurance laws of the state, and he did it; the insured have a greater sense of security than ever before, and the state stands among the most progressive in the line of such legislation.

"He promised to give a workmen's compensation act, and a ten hour work day for women, and he did it; long before the "humanities" were made a national political issue by others.

"But the list already is long, although it might be extended to include several times that many topics. It all goes to prove that Gov. De-

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—The second contest of the world's series between the Boston American Leaguers and the New York National Leaguers today went eleven innings to a tie score of 6 to 6, when darkness put an end to the battle that kept thirty thousand spectators on the edge of keenest excitement throughout every inning. The contest will be played over tomorrow at Fenway park.

With one victory registered for the Red Sox, Manager McGraw sent out his star twirler, Mathewson, to capture the second game for the Giants.

SPEEDY OUT-FIELDER WHO PLAYED IN GREAT FORM YESTERDAY

HOOPER-- RED SOX LEAD OFF MAN

Mathewson had been rested for about two weeks to win the first game he twirled, but tonight, the Red Sox still gloated over their one victory and no game lost, with the dreaded Mathewson worn out with a hard pitched eleven inning tie game.

Tris Speaker, the Red Sox middle fielder, furnished the dramatic climax in the contest where fortune played fickle favor with first one and then the other team. The ninth inning found the Red Sox and the Giants locked in a tie score of 5 to 5. The Red Sox left-hander, Collins had been driven from the box in the eighth inning by a shower of hits, and Hall had been sent to relieve him. Merkle smashed out a three bagger in the tenth inning and the home club host was in gloom when he scored on sacrifice hit.

In the fading light it was difficult for the Red Sox to follow the course of Mathewson's big drop and New York felt confident. Yerkes had been turned back to the plate and the big crowd looked to Speaker. The trio of Giant outer gardeners moved far afield. Mathewson wound up and sent a fast inshoot up to the plate. Speaker gave a wicked swing and the ball was sailing far over Becker's head in center. Speaker rounder first, then, second and raced to third. The ball caromed from the back field fence and Becker seized it and threw to Shafer who momentarily juggled it. Speaker hesitated at third, then sped for the plate and slid under Catcher Wilson, who fumbled Shafer's relay throw. That tied the score and the crowd went wild. To make sure that he had touched the plate, Speaker returned and touched the plate a second time before Wilson recovered the ball. Red Sox fans were not loathe tonight to give the Giants credit for a game fight.

The Boston's took the jump in the first inning and scored three runs by hitting Mathewson hard, but the Giants, undismayed fought back and by peppering away at Collins' delivery, picked up a run in the second and another in the fourth inning. Boston tallied another score in the fifth inning, but New York was not to be denied, and when Duffy Lewis dropped Snodgrass' fly opening the eighth inning they started a batting bee that caused Manager Stahl to hurry Hall to Collins' relief. Three runs already were over the plate on an error, a single and two doubles. This gave New York a lead of one run. The Giants held their lead but a moment, however, for the Red Sox attacked Mathewson's drop curves savagely, and coupled with an error by Fletcher the tieing run was sent over the plate.

Then came the exciting tenth with Merkle's hit and Speaker's mighty smash to the center-field fence.

Fletcher was broken-hearted tonight over his poor game at short stop for New York. Two of his three- glaring errrs aided materially in the making of runs by the Red Sox.

Wagner starred at short stop for Boston accepting ten chances and executing a brillian play in the ninth inning, when, on the dead run, he speared Fletcher's grounder with his gloved hand turned and with a rifle shot throw, that Stahl also took with one hand, nailed Fletcher at first base.

There was an unusual bit of base stealing in the game for a world series contest, five bags being pilfered. Of these, Hooper stole two and Stahl one for the Red Sox while Snodgrass and Herzog each beat Carrigan's throws.

Hooper, for the Red Sox had a field day. He knocked out three hits stole two bases, scored once and gathered in three ies in the outfield. Murray and Herzog were the heavy hitters for the Giants, Murray duplicated his telling work of yesterday with the stick by hammering a single, a double, and a triple. Herzog also garnered a single, a two bagger and a three base blow and sent up a sacrifice fly opportunelyy. Mathewson's control was perfect. He did not issue a base on balls and fanned four men. Doyle played a scintillating game at second for New York.

"We have stopped the Red Sox on their home grounds," said Manager McGraw tonight, "and the team is very well satisfied. We have shown that the Giants were game and that gameness is going to count a great deal more before the series is over."

"The Red Sox have always felt that Mathewson was the one man they had to beat," said Manager Jake Stahl. "I think today's game while it did not end in a victory shows that we can hit the New York twirler whose work today must have tired him out."

With the exception of a few bare spots in the outfield stands, every seat was taken. Tickets brought three times the regular price of three dollars for the grand stand. The total paid attendance today was 30,148, with total receipts of $58,369 of which the players share was $31,519.26 and each club received $10,506.42. The National commission's share was $5,836.90.

POLITICAL COMMENT

neen and his associates on the Republican ticket considered the Republican platform a series of promises which were to be kept.

"Gov. Deneen not only drove the spoils system out of the public service of the state, and whipped from bosses power to dictate nominations, but he grappled with a corrupt political machine and annihilated it. In doing that, however, he has not escaped being made the target of those discredited political leaders and it has been his effort for the last few years to try to besmirch his character.

"With what was left of rapidly fading powers, these repudiated politicians have tried to connect the governor with the plots and conspiracies which caused their own downfall, it being their one wish to drag down with them the one man who had the courage to fight them even when he knew the venom of their venegeance.

"The political black hand is showing itself in the present campaign. Under the guidance of the Democratic and third party candidates are retelling, with their own embellishments the story of the Lorimer election scandal in an attempt to nvolve Gov. Deneen and that both parties should be working harmoniously on this line shouldbe evidence enough for the thinking man to prove a working agreement between the two political organizations.

"There is one purpose in these attacks. It is the defeat of Gov. Deneen and the election of Edward F. Dunne. Back of them are the remains of the political machine which the governor wrecked, directing the battle, supplying a large part of the ammunition and maintaining a semblance of rivalry between the Democratic and third parties, whereas they are working to the same end.

"Mr. Dunne is the man whom the old enemies of Gov. Deneen—the foes of real progress in state affairs, thehuman hurdles in the track of reform—want to have elected. In a straight party vote they cannot win. They tried that fouryears agowith Stevenson. By manufacturing some interest in the campaign of Frank H. Funk, however, they attempt to draw enogh Republican votes from the support of Gov. Deneen to cause his defeat. They cannot succeed.

"There is only one issue in the state campaign. Shall a worty and loyal executive be re-elected, or shall an inexperienced man be chosen with the aid of discredited politicians? It will be Deneen or Dunne, and a vote for Funk is a vote for Dunne."

RECORD CROPS SEEM SURE FOR YEAR 1912

OCTOBER REPORT IS MADE BY DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Official Estimates Indicate That Returns Will be Greatest in History of Nation—Secretary Wilson Says Part of Credit is Due Federal Government for Help Given Farmers.

Washington, Oct. 9—Never before have the great cereal crops of the United States been so bountiful as those of this year. Records of production for almost every cereal have been surpassed in some instances by millions of bushels.

The October crop report of the department of agriculture issued today shows spring wheat, oats, barley, rye and hay all have exceeded the best record productions, while the crops of corn and potatoes from present indications also will be the greatest ever harvested.

What the Harvests Will Be.

The department of agriculture's official estimates of production of the country's principal crops, which this year promise to be the greatest in history, were announced today and are given below with figures showing the previous record crops and the year produced.

The following preliminary estimates are made:

CROPS.	1912. BUSHELS.	RECORD CROP.	YEAR
Spring Wheat	330,391,000	292,657,000	1898
Winter Wheat	389,942,000	492,888,000	1906
All Wheat	720,433,000	748,460,000	1901
Oats	1,417,172,000	1,186,341,000	1910
Barley	224,619,000	178,916,000	1906
Rye	35,422,000	34,879,000	1910
Hay	72,425,000	70,798,000	1908

The following estimates are based upon condition figures.

Corn	3,016,000,000	2,927,416,000	1906
Buckwheat	18,000,000	22,792,000	1866
Potatoes	401,000,000	389,195,000	1909
Rice	24,000,000	24,510,000	1910

Wilson's Statement.

Speaking of this great showing made by the country's farmers, James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, today said:

"The crops are the heaviest on record. The season has been favorable but some credit is due to the wide efforts made in late years by the federal government to get better returns from the average acre.

"The world has been searched for better plants by the department of agriculture and its scientists have been creating new plants, by hybridization, for the several localities.

"Twenty-eight million pieces of literature have been sent out by the department in addition to the advices from the state stations along these lines. So far the farmers have been helped in producing their record breaking crop."

The features of the report are the enormous harvests of corn, oats and spring wheat. More than three billion bushels of corn, almost a billion and a half bushels of oats and three hundred and thirty millions of bushels of spring wheat have been grown. The states in the northwest are harvesting the greatest crops ever grown there.

In North Dakota 146,592,000 bushels of spring wheat, the greatest spring wheat harvest ever grown by any state was produced. The yield per acre there was increased from 8 bushels last year to 18 bushels this year.

Iowa, with 219,780,000 bushels and North Dakota with 96,138,000 bushels were the principal oat producers.

In each of these states the yield per acre this year was almost double last year's yield.

The Potato Crop.

"It looks as if we won't have to import any potatoes this year," said Secretary Wilson in commenting on the record potato crop. Indications are that the farmers will have 108,000,000 bushels more potatoes this year than last, when by reason of short crop, large quantities were imported from Europe.

With the garnering of the harvests of the country, predicted earlier in the season to be greater in most cases than ever grown by this or any other nation, the department of agriculture continued its preliminary estimates of the production of these crops in the October report of the crop reporting board, of its bureau of statistics. The report, compiled from reports of correspondents and agents of the bureau and issued at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon, announced preliminary estimates of the production of spring wheat, all wheat, oats and barley and estimated, from condition reports, the prospective total yield of corn, buckwheat, potatoes and rice.

Details of the report, with comparisons for other years follow. (Condition figures relate to Oct. 1, at the time of harvest).

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R.V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and strengthen Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

SHE SUFFERED TEN MONTHS

Mrs. Blankenship Tells of Her Restoration to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elliston, Va.—"I feel it my duty to express my thanks for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was a sufferer from female troubles and had been confined in bed over one third of my time for ten months. I could not do my housework and had fainting spells so that my husband could not leave me alone for five minutes at a time.

"Now I have been restored to health and it has come from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Whenever I see a suffering woman I want to tell her what this medicine has done for me and I will always speak a good word for it."—Mrs. ROBERT BLANKENSHIP, Elliston, Va., Montgomery Co.

Was Helpless—Now Well.

Trenton, Mo.—"About two years ago I had female trouble and inflammation so bad that I was literally helpless and had to be tended like a baby. I could not move my body or lift my foot for such severe pains that I had to scream. I was very nervous and had a weakness.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me to such an extent that I think there is no medicine like it for female troubles. I am up and able to do my work again and I give you full permission to publish my letter for the sake of other suffering women."—Mrs. W. T. PURNELL, 320-10th St., Trenton, Mo.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION HAS DONE GOOD WORK.

Record Since 1905 in Pointed Out By Governor Deneen in Peoria Speech.

During the present administration the State Highway commission, created in 1905, has done excellent work, both in road and bridge construction and in awakening interest throughout the state in the subject of highway improvement. The powers of the commission are advisory. It gives aid and counsel to local road authorities in their road and bridge construction work.

Much of its work in arousing public interest in this subject has been done at meetings of farmers' institutes, which are largely attended and held in every county. In 1906, 48 of these meetings were attended by the state highway engineer or representatives of the commission; in 1907, 114; in 1908, 117; 1909, 111; 1910, 127; 1911, 127; 1912 to July 1, 80.

It is through this commission that the crushed stone for road material which is now manufactured at the state penitentiaries is distributed, and its use in road construction supervised. The following table shows the quantities of crushed stone distributed since the commission began work:

	Counties	Townships	Cubic Yds. of stone
1906	17	22	39,905
1907	33	56	96,595
1908	29	52	120,240
1909	37	67	136,788
1910	48	72	103,309
1911	46	68	152,165
1912 to Jul. 1	30	51	60,362
Total			710,264

Three hundred and forty miles of road have been improved by local road authorities with this material under the supervision of the commission, which has also constructed 101½ miles of experimental roads in different parts of the state as models for this class of work. The following table gives the work on Experimental Roads.

Year	Miles of Road
1906	4
1907	12½
1908	13
1909	22
1910	28
1911	22
1912 to July 1	18
Total	119½

In addition, the State Highway commission makes inspections upon application of local road authorities of bridge sites, designs and draws plans for their construction and supervises the work. The commission has encouraged the use of concrete for bridge building purposes, reducing to the tax payers the cost of bridge maintenance which, in this class of bridges, amounts to almost nothing.

GENERAL MARKET NEWS

WAR NEWS CAUSES STRONG ADVANCE

Net Increase of 1½ to 1⅝ in Wheat Market—Corn Derives Much Strength From Wheat.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Oct. 9.—War news overshadowed everything else in today's wheat market. In consequence, there was a net advance of ¾ to 1½@1⅝, with the feeling at the close strong. Corn finished ¼@⅜ to ⅝c up, oats at a gain of ¼ to ½, and provisions 5 to 17½c higher. Foreigners were reported active buyers of wheat futures, and of cash wheat here and southwest.

Speculators in America showed even keener desire to take advantage of a possible big bulge in prices, the trade being in receipt of more belligerent advices than at any previous time since the Balkan scare began.

Short sellers suffered severe punishment. Many that tempted their fate by rashly ignoring early cables were forced later to run for cover to save themselves from greater loss.

December swung from 91⅝@¾ to 93¾, with last sales 1½c@1⅝ above last night at 93¼@⅜.

Corn derived much of its strength from wheat. Wet weather also was a bullish factor. An after session surprise came in the government figures raising the condition percentage, whereas a drop had been expected. December ranged from 53⅝ to 54, closing firm at 53⅞, a gain of ¼@⅜c net.

Every demand for oats continued lively, sales being almost as large as on the day before. Outside limits reached for December were 32½ and 32¾.

The close was ¼c higher than yesterday.

Provisions advanced to new high records for the season. Eager bidding on the part of foreigners and shorts led the way. When the market closed, pork had risen 10 to 17c; lard, 5 to 10c, and ribs, 7½ to 10c.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

New York, Oct. 9.—Foreign developments were responsible for another setback in the stock market today. The Balkan situation caused demoralization in Paris, increased the unsettlement prevailing in Berlin borse, and added to the state of depression in London. The latter market sold for its own and other foreign account fully 25,000 shares of our stocks of which United States steel and amalgamated copper made the major portions. The selling of coppers was probably due to a sensational decline in Rio Tintos in London.

Initial dealings here showed declines of a point to over two points, the weakest issues being Canadian Pacific. There were fitful rallies during the morning with another slight reversal at mid-day, but in the late afternoon when trading was lightest, a part of the early losses were retrieved.

The most notable exception among high grade issues was Canadian Pacific, which was persistently pressed for sale, some of the offerings coming direct from Berlin.

The government crop report was the sustaining feature of the final hour. The corn condition on October 1 was 82.2, a slight gain over last month. The indicated crop was estimated at 3,016,000,000 bushels a decided gain over last month and almost 500,000,000 in excess of last month's figures and other cereals showed improvement.

Money was more firm, call loans going to six per cent before the close. A slight advance was reported in 90 day rates with some reduction for the longer periods. Foreign exchange strengthened on account of the European scare.

FORMER RESIDENTS.

J. A. Kennedy writes Interestingly of Western Country.

The following letter has been received by Mr. Ensley Moore from J. A. Kennedy, a former teacher at the State School for the Deaf, and whose family for a number of years made Jacksonville their home:

Los Angeles, Calif., 340 Brent street, Oct. 4, 1912:

A few days ago I received a familiar looking club card forwarded from Whittier. I have been a resident of this city almost a year, having sold my place there and came over to Los Angeles to make a home for our daughter, Helen, who holds a responsible position in the Los Angeles public library. She has charge of nine branch libraries located in various parts of the city.

Mrs. Kennedy and I have been up to Montana nearly three months visiting our sons, Robert and Philip, on their ranch and for ten days had a family reunion. Helen went up with us and stayed two weeks. Melville, wife and son, Robert McCurdy Kennedy (our first grandson) came from Brooklyn, N. Y. They left the Atlantic coast the same day we left the Pacific coast and we met at the station near the boys' ranch and rode out all together.

I assure you it gave us great pleasure to greet our first grandson, a fine looking chunk of humanity, over a year old now. Sept. 21st they sailed for Calcutta, India, where Melville goes as a missionary. Will spend three weeks visiting in England and Scotland on the way.

We had a fine trip, went up via Salt Lake route, came back through Spokane, Portland, where we spent a week visiting relatives. Portland is a fine city, has well paved, clean streets, many elegant stores and public buildings. The scenery in all dirictions is wonderful and everything is fresh and green all the year. I think I would enjoy living in Portland, except the rainy winters.

We came by steamer from Portland, lying over two days at San Francisco, giving us an opportunity to see the city. Took an auto though Golden Gate park, six and a half miles long and one and a half miles wide, and the heights above the ocean and bay.

The national encampment of the G. A. R. was held here in September. Over 20,000 of the "good boys" were in grand parade. This will be the last march for many of the veterans, as they are rapidly passing on.

This city is growing by leaps. When are you coming out to this glorious country? this "land of the afternoon sun." How's the Club? Remember me to those I know. Please send me a list of present members. Sincerely,

J. A. Kennedy.

GOT HIS HAIR BACK.

Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide.

Frederick Manuell, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 6, '09, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 20 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he writes, "and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Handel's Pensions.

No other musician of his time was so fortunate in money matters as Handel. For a "Te Deum" composed to celebrate the peace of Utrecht he was given a pension of £200 a year until his death, making £9,000 in all. Another of his compositions secured a pension of a similar amount from George I., and for the last twenty years of his life he drew a further £200 a year from Queen Caroline. So, although he lost £10,000 in an unsuccessful attempt to run opera in London, Handel died possessed of £20,000, the largest fortune realized by any musical composer until the dawn of the nineteenth century.

The Dogcart.

A memory of the times when dogs worked for a living in England is seen in the "dogcart," which originally was literally drawn by dogs and, until prohibited in 1839 by act of parliament, was the workingman's usual means of taking a run into the country. Strong half bred mastiffs were usually employed, and these thought nothing of conveying their masters fifty or sixty miles in a day with no more sustenance than bread soaked in beer.

About the Same Now.

The story is told in Joubert's "Popular Errors Concerning Medicine," published in Bordeaux, France, in 1579, that one Gonelle, a jester at the court of the Duke of Ferrara, insisted once upon a time that the trade which had the most followers was that of doctor. To prove his assertion he left his home one morning to go to the palace with his nightcap on and his jaws wrapped up. The first person he met stopped him with the question, "What is the matter with you, Gonelle?" "A terrible toothache." "Oh, is that all? I'll tell you what will cure it." And every person he met had some advice to give him. When the jester reached the duke's chamber the same question and answer were repeated. "Ah," said the prince, "I know of something that will take the pain right away." Gonelle instantly threw up his kerchief, saying: "And you, too, monseigneur, are a doctor? I have only passed through one street in coming from my house to you and have counted more than 30 of them. I believe I could find 10,000 in the city."

The Golden Yam.

The golden yam, that elaborates the sun and the soil into a sugar which makes saccharine seem sour, was set apart by our first parents as the overlord of all the tubers. The history of its Irish rival may be definitely traced to the foster care of Raleigh. It spread into Lancashire. Its path through the Low Countries may be followed as clearly as the march of the army worm. But the genealogy of the yam is lost in the morning mists of antiquity. It is supposed to be identical with the mandrake, for which the orient peoples dug as for hidden treasure. Beyond all peradventure it was the yam to which the Spanish gave what afterward became the generic name "batata," modified into our own collective "potato." Its purple flowers were hailed as the harbingers of nature's richest largesse, while Humboldt was still doubting whether nature originally had anything to do with the creation of the Irish potato.—Washington Post.

His Daily Square Meal.

The eccentric Dr. Fordyce, a well known professor of chemistry of the eighteenth century, believed that man required only one meal a day, and for twenty years he practiced what he preached. At four he would present himself at Dolly's chophouse, in Paternoster row, and immediately upon his arrival the cook would place a pound and a half of rump steak upon the gridiron. While it was cooking the doctor would amuse himself with some such trifle as half a broiled capon or a plate of fish, and a glass or two of brandy. Then came the steak, with a full accompaniment of bread and potatoes and a quart tankard of strong ale. This was followed by a bottle of old port, after which he would stroll to his rooms in Essex street, where he met his class and gave lectures on chemistry.—London Chronicle.

An Impressive Sight.

On his return from his first trip in the United States recently a German physician was asked which one of the sights had made the greatest impression on him. He said: "I saw Niagara falls and on my return to New York came through the picturesque Adirondack region. It was all majestically beautiful, but to a certain extent I was prepared for what I saw. But in a little mountain hamlet, where my friends took me to a Wild West show, I saw an Indian in feathers and war paint drinking beer out of a bottle and holding in his hand a piece of your American pie, which he devoured between gulps. It was a picture so unlike the one I had formed of the Indian that I think it made the greatest impression."—New York Tribune.

One Eyed Giants.

Sir John Mandeville saw all sorts of queer things and wrote about them in his celebrated books of travels. It was in 1536 that the veracious Sir John visited a certain group of isles (yles he called them) which was inhabited by a race of one eyed giants. Of them he says: "In one of these yles ben folk of grate stature, as giantes, and they ben hideous for to loke upon. An thei han but on eye, and that is in ye middyl of ye front." He also tells of another one of these "yles" inhabited by a race of one legged dwarfs, each having three eyes.

An Implosion.

An implosion, as the term indicates, a bursting outward, a sudden collapse, is the direct opposite of an explosion. The conditions most favorable for the production of an implosion exist at great depth in the sea. At 2,500 fathoms the pressure is, roughly speaking, about two and a half tons to the square inch, a pressure that is several times greater than that exerted by steam upon the piston of a powerful engine.

What Is the Use?

If a man succeeds by acting on your advice, he feels that he would have acted as he did without being advised by you, and if he fails because he neglected to heed your advice he blames you for not making it stronger than you did. So what's the use?—Chicago Record-Herald.

Discount.

Angry Citizen—Say! The sleeves and pants legs of this suit are away too short. The Tailor—I told you you were getting 10 per cent off.—New York Globe.

So It Does.

She—A flirtation is always lots of fun. He—Yes, but sometimes it takes a long time to find out just who is having the fun.—Philadelphia Record.

PLANS NEARING COMPLETION.

Many Visitors Expected to Attend I. O. O. F. Meeting in This City October 24.

Plans for the sixth annual meeting of the Central Illinois Odd Fellows association, which is to be held in this city October 24, are rapidly nearing completion and the men are arranging an excellent program for the entertainment of the visitors. The association comprises the counties of Morgan, Cass, Scott Pike Greene, Fulton, Schuyler and Jersey and a large number of visitors are expected to attend the sessions.

In the morning the guests will be fair from Alexander yesterday were the city, after which a balloon ascension and parachute leap will be given and in the afternoon Hon. L. Y. Sherman and Hon. W. A. Hubbard, grand master of the Illinois Odd Fellows, will give addresses in central park. Music for the celebration will be furnished by Jeffries' band and in the evening several degree staffs will compete for honors, cash prizes being awarded to the winners.

PIMPLY? WELL DON'T BE.

People Notice it—Drive Them Off With Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pimples will vanish after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Nothing ever cleansed the blood, the bowels and the liver like Olive Tablets.

Olive Tablets are the only successful substitute for calomel—they oil the bowels; there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Olive Tablets do all that calomel does and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are made of pure vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Try them. Take one nightly for a week. Then look at yourself in the glass and see how you feel. 10c and 25c per box.

The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus, Ohio.

NEXT CONVENTION AT SPRINGFIELD

POSTMASTERS ELECT OFFICERS AND CLOSE SESSIONS.

First Assistant Postmaster General Hon C. L. Grandfield Among List of Last Day's Speakers—Banquet Is Held at Country Club.

The program of the two days' convention of the Illinois Postmasters' closed Wednesday, after electing officers for the ensuing year and naming Springfield as themeeting place for 1913. The officers elected follow:

President—D. A. Campbell, Chicago.

Secretary—H. D. Hemmens, Elgin.

Treasurer—J. P. Messick, East St. Louis.

The second day of the convention witnessed a large attendance and papers of much interest were read and excellent addresses were delivered. A conspicuous figure at the gathering was Hon. C. P. Grandfield, first assistant postmaster general of Washington, D. C. The gentleman devoted his address largely to narrating the efforts which had been made especiallly for thebtterment of the situation of second and third class postmasters.

Up to a few years ago these postmasters were obliged to pay for their help out of their own pockets and great efforts had been made to get justice done them. The first step was to get an allowance of from $120 to $180 a year and this has been a great help, though even yet hardly any postmasters of this class get for themselves anything like the amount of salaries which range all the way from $1,100 to $1,700.

Through the efforts of the department an appropriation of $356,000 had been secured to be added to the compensation allowed postmasters ofthe second and third class for clerrk hire. He had been before the committee of congress and had asked for a larger sum, but only the above amount had been secured. As to the apportioning of it they would probaly have an official visit some of the offices and endeavor to get an idea of conditions and do the fair thing in dividing the money as far as it would go and while it would not pay all the needed amount for clerk hire it would be a great help and those who were entitled to it should apply at once.

Village FreeDelivery.

The question regarding free delivery in villages was brought up and the speaker said he doubted the wisdom of expending much money for the purpose, as people were generally satisfied and wanted to visit the office several times a day anyhow and then themen wer opposed to because it gave them an excuse to go down town and if there were free delivery their wives would keep them at home.

The department and congress have been good to the clerks also. The clerks now have a day in seven for rest and the civill service has been extended so that all affected by it have a chance for promotion. The dyepartment has been well managed along business lines and though the amount of business has been larger and the expenses increased good management has held down the expenses and made the department self sustaining.

Of course the president and postmaster general are blamed for all that goes wrong and get littlecredit for the good accomplished, Sunday closing was the work of congres. It was like the woman who sent her little girl to the attic to take down a piece of bologna sausage hung to the rafter and bade the child be careful not to knock anything down. An earthquake happened just then and shook down the schimney and the child was punished for knocking down the brick.

Of course we should be careful not to go too far in any matter. If a man is looking for an important letter it seeems as if he ought to be able to get it Sunday morning, but the postoffice should not be a place for gossip and needless calling for mail, keeping people at work who like rest and need it as much as any one else.

The speaker was inclined to think special provisions would be made for rail roads in case the parcels post made extra work for carriers, but he thought it would hardly be necessary as the heaviest calls for parcels delivery would be in the time of the year when roads are good. Regarding the eight hours in third class offices the government says the clerks must not work more than eight hours, though they must be ten hours about the place.

Needs and Hinderances.

Needs and hindrances of the third class postmasters gave several an opportunity to speak.

The first was M. Knudson of Jager. The gentleman gave a humorous account of the trials and troubles of a man in his place. He should be cheerful anyhow and if he didn't get the increase this year maybe he would get it next. His pay was $1,400 a year —on paper—but by the time he paid his expenses he had to be satisfied with much less.

In his place was a factory and when the 500 men went to dinner all would stop at the office to see if they had any mail. Then each had three or four children and as they went to and from school they would stop too and if they were too small to look into the opening they would knock on the window to attract attention. If he went to the desk to write he would hardly get started before some one would call for letters which were not there, but he must look at them. Stillit was a great honor to be permitted to come to this land and handle the United States mail.

G. Swanson of Woodhull said the the rural carriers were his greatest trouble. They are not under the authority of the postmaster and yet he is blamed for their short comings. They are careless in serving the people and need attention. He had one who had been the first one appointed in his county and had always given satisfaction, but some were different.

Several others spoke, among them U. S. G. Blakely of Plainfeldd, who said:

The subject given me is "The Needs and Hinderances of the Third Class Postmaster." The subject in itself is slightly paridoxical. The first two words, "The Needs" fully covering the ground. When the "needs" are supplied there will be no "hinderances." The third class postmaster needs a great many things to make his office fully equipped for the tasks which it is expected and required to perform and until the third class postoffice has all the necessary equipment it will have its hinderances.

Third Class Postmasters.

As all postmasters know who have been advanced from the third to the second class offices there is only a very short step between these two classifications in point of service, but ua very great difference made by the department in the matter of allowances. We third class postmasters think the difference is too great to be comensurate with the difference in work and ability. We don't want to be taken as critics or advisors or our superiors in office or disatisfied with our jobs. Indeen the people up my way are worried because I likemy job so well, but I realize as many others in my class do that no one is apt to appreciate our position quite so well, nor to present it quite so favorable to us as as we ourselves. Hence our appearance before this gathering.

As to the needs: We believe we need at the salary we are allowed, but as matters stand we are obliged to share it with our clerk or do without this very necessary article of furnitue, we are also obliged to share it with our assistant postmaster, we areobliged to buy our own typewriter and run it ourselves. Now of course we do not object so much to running a typewriter if she is the proper sort, but on our meagre salary we cannot afford this luxury. In the second class office, only a short step from ours, and this step measured not by the increased work, but by the increase in gross receipts, these necessaries are furnished and compensated by thedepartment. We therefore submit to the department heads that we areentitled to them as well. The system now pretends to allow us rent, light and heat, but in many cases the allowance for these wereentirely inadequate.

I would respectfully recommend the more rigid control by the fourth assistant's office of the rural delivery system, so as to compel the rural carriers to keep on hand at all times $5 in stamps and stamped paper and to make a complete schedule every day, showing the amount on hand every morning and every evening, amount sold and the cash received therefor.

I find that in the United States there are now in operation 58,629 postoffices, divided as follows: 457 first, 1,947 second 5,828 third and 50,404 fourth. The first had a gain last year of 13, the second of 33, the third of 185 and the fourth a loss of 883. It would be better if all postoffices were uniform in fixtures, where the department takes the box rent; uniform in bluildings as well as fixtures.

Johnson on Good Roads.

Hon. A. M. Johnson of Springfield, state highway commissioner, spoke on the question of good roads. He said in the state there were 4,800 highway commissioners and there was no system in their work. The roads are used more and more and whether we like the automobile or not, it is here to stay and must be reckoned with. Suppose in a six mile square township there were two roads crosssing each other in the center and others radiating from these. If the main ones could be maintained it would be a great help A few months ago a watch was kept on a certain portion of roads and it was found that 68 per cent of the travel there was by autos. To be wholly successful it will be necessary for the state to assist in keeping up and preparing good roads. Much has beendone by prison labor in preparing Joliet stone for the roads. In August 18,000 cubic yards of crushed stonehad been shipped from convict labor for theroads. The statehighway commission is always ready to give advice and aid. It has done so in the matter of 600 bridges.

Through a failurue of the legislature to appropriate the automobile license money about $400,000 of that fund is in the state treasury.

W. T. Bedford of LaSalle read an able paper on postoffice salesmanship, giving some excellent advice.

He suggested that good salesmanship would facilitate many things about the office: work off the stamp packages instead of having people buy so frequently in small lots; use the sale of orders and special delivery stamps and in many ways advance the interests of the department.

The committe on resolutions made the following report:

Your committee on resolutions beg leave to submit the following:

Resolved: That, to relieve the service from the difficulty in securing the best men for the service, from the the elligible register, we recommend an adequate, fixed annual salary for substitute clerks and carriers.

We recommend for obvious reasons, that an order be promulgated to discontinue the use of transparent and outlook envelopes.

We recommend that all mail deposited in a post office, without sufficient postage, be forwarded to its destination—same to be marked postage due.

We recommend that the allowance for clerk hire, in third class offices, be made on the basis of one-half the postmaster's salary with extra allowance for separating offices.

We heartily endorse the present movement of the legislature of our state for a better road system for the purpose of securing better roads, and we recommend that the department act more vigorously in withdrawing rural mail service, when the public highway officials show indifference or carelessness in keeping the roads and bridges on such routes in repair.

We greatly appreciate the activities of host Postmaster, Honorable John J. Reeve, in making this session of the association one of the most pleasant it has ever had, and its visit to the city enjoyable; and we also express appreciation for the universal courtesies of the people of Jacksonville.

We, hereby express the thanks of this association to the Honorable C. P. Grandfield, first assistant postmaster general, for his attendance upon this convention, and for the valuable and helpful service he has rendered to all of us. We also declare our appreciation of the attendance of C. H. Fullaway, superintendent of the division of finance and of the valuable instructions he has given us.

Officers Chosen.

Officers elected were:

D. A. Campbell, Chicago, president.

H. D. Hemmens, Elgin, secretary.

J. B. Messick, ast St. Louis, treasurer.

The committee on resolutions reported.

At the Country Club.

The convention then adjourned to street cars which took them to the Country club building where a fine banquet was served at the expense of the Business Men's asociation by the owners of the Peacock Inn. The service was excellent and prompt and all were well satisfied.

Postmaster Reeve presided and requested Rev. J. W. Miller of Grace M. E. church to offer prayer after which all partook of the good things provided.

After all had eaten Mr. Reeve called on a few persons for brief addresses which were given. His remarks in introducing were witty and wise. The first was Dr. J. R. Harker of the Woman's college who said in brief:

I trust you had a pleasant time at the college last night and I thank you sincerely for the kind words you have said regarding the affair. I am happy to have had the honor to entertain such a distinguished body and hope you have had a good time. Your work has been good and in years with the tens of thousands of pieces of mail received at our institution in 19 years am not aware that more than three or four have been lost. Again I welcome you to our midst and hope you will leave with pleasant impressions.

The veteran, J. B. Messick was next introduced. I do a little better in wet towns for when men are a little off they are better able to look over my short comings. I am older than the men here and very much older than the ladies. When I was a boy in Macoupin county if a man was off in his mind they said send him to Jacksonville. Jacksonville is a lovely place situated in a rich country with great blessings of all kinds. It has educational facilities and fine people, lovely homes and grand streets and I have only good words for it.

To give the ladies a chance Mrs. Marsh of Bowen was called on. It is a pleasant task to express our great thanks to Mrs. Reeve for her delightful entertainment of the ladies of this gathering. We can never forget it and I only wish I were twenty years younger so that I might remember it longer.

Hon. C. H. Fullaway, superintendent, division of finance, washington was the next speaker.

I am glad to be in such a place as this. I was naturally an eastern standpatter till I met a lady of the west and then I changed my mind. I am glad to meet the postmasters and see things from their viewpoint for we can best understand each other after meeting. I have much enjoyed the entire occasion and only wish there might have been a larger attendance of the postmasters.

Secretary Hemmens of Elgin said he had found much to interest him. Each year we find something new to learn and add to our efficiency. We thank the people of Jacksonville for their grand hospitality which has indeed been princely. President Campbell thanked the convention for the honor conferred on him and assured the people of Jacksonville that he would leave with the greatest of good feeling.

Gen. Granfield was the last speaker.

Hon. J. J. Reeve said it had been truly a pleasure to entertain the postmasters and the whole meeting had been one of pleasure and profit. The convention then adjourned to the State School for the Blind where a fine entertainment was provided for them.

The entertainment for the ladies by Mrs. J. J. Reeve was a delightful affair and greatly enjoyed. The house was especially decorated for the occasion and the time was passed most delightfully. Mrs. Reeve is a royal entertainer and on this occasion sustained her usual fine reputation.

As the evening drew near the members took the various trains out of the city many going to Springfield to enjoy the fair.

Mr. Reeve and his estimable wife have been especially able in entertaining the visitors who go away with the kindest of feeling and happiest recollections of Jacksonville.

LINCOLN WILL COME FRIDAY

Illinois College Will Play Their First Game of Football on Local Field—Line-up Announced.

Illinois college opens the football season at home Friday by playing Lincoln college on Illinois field at 3:30. Lincoln had a game last Saturday against Knox and was defeated by a score of 33 to 0. The score, however, does not tell of the merits of theLincoln eleven, a squad made up of heavy men. They are exceptionally fortunate in having a star at full back in the person of McMurray. He was picked as the best all round full back of the college teams of the state. They also have a half back of unusual ability, so with the heavy lineup they make a most worthy foe.

Coach Harmon, who has been practicing his men against members of the second team, expects to exert every effort to annex the opening contest. What the team lacks in weight the coach expects to make up in speed so that the devotees of the game are promised something interesting.

The following lineup has been announced:

Tandy—Center.
Right guards—Hollmes and Blacksetter.
Left guards—Lukeman and Robbins Russel.
Right tackle—Capt. Ross.
Right end—Karch and Pierce.
Left end—McLaughlin and Rob
Quarter back—Stewart.
Backfield—Darragh, Alford and Jaccard.

The second team will go to Pittsfield for game Saturday with the high school of that place.

Mrs. Paul Wehling, 316 Smith St., Peoria, Ill., had kidney and bladder trouble, with terrible backache and pain across the hips. Just imagine her condition. She further says: "I was also very nervous, had headaches and dizzy spells and was fast getting worse when I took Foley Kidndey Pills, and now all my troubles are cured. Foley Kidney Pills have done so much for me I shall alway recommend them." City Drug Store, J. A. Obermeyer.

REV. A. L. PLOWMAN WRITES TO FRIENDS.

Lawrence, Kan., Oct. 8, 1912.

Editor of the Journal, Jacksonville, Illinois,

Dear Sir:—If you will permit me the use of a little space in your valuable paper, I would like to speak to your readers, especially to the old friends in Morgan county and tell them of my where-abouts.

Hoping to improve the health of my family, I left Illinois soil six years ago for Duncan, Okla. After fifteen months' stay there we decided we were too far south and removed to northern Oklahoma and settled at Tonkawa, Kay county. This I consider the garden spot of this new state. The broad level prairies, the well improved farms and large orchards, made us feel like we were back in old Illinois. But the climate is a big improvement over the old state. At Tonkawa is located one of the Oklahoma state schools, the "University Preparatory school." None of the older states, I think, have any such schools. But this new progressive state besides her many normal schools, her agricultural schools and her state university, has two such schools of secondary grade, the other located at Clare More, in the eastern part of the state.

For five years we lived on our little farm just east, and joining up to the college addition of this splendid school.

This college has one of the most beautiful campuses in the state, on which stands four beautiful and thoroughly equipped buildings, manned by a splendid faculty, all graduates of one or more of the best universities in our country; more than five hundred enthusiastic students are enrolled in this great school. One of the peculiar features of this school is the noticeable fact that almost every graduate goes forth with the determination to have a university education.

In June, 1911, Earl graduated from this school, and last year attended the Illinois university, for the most part, working his way through. In June last, Ruth graduated with honors, and for two reasons we decided to move to this place. On April 20th last, a cyclone swooped down south of Tonkawa, and fortunately missed the city and the state school on the east but traveling a northeast direction struck us fairly and levled the wind mill and every one of our five buildings to the ground, except the house, which was moved ten feet from the foundation, and ruined.

Mrs. Plowman and Ruth were in the home at the time of the storm but thought it only a severe hail and wind storm, did not take advantage of the storm cellar, and so were thrown violently to the floor when the shock came. Ruth escaped uninjured, but Mrs. Plowman received a severe scalp wound, and a deep seated injury in her left instep, from which she has not yet fully recovered, though the wound in the head soon healed over. We moved at once to Tonkawa, and I proceeded with a force from two to four men, to clean up the place and rebuild the house and barn. No one who has not had experience in a cyclone wreck can understand what that means.

For instance, one man did nothing else for five weeks but pull nails from the wrecked barn, and then did not get all the nails pulled. But finally the house, barn, hen house and wind mill were replaced, but Mrs. Plowman was not able for the necessary work on the farm; my own health was poor; the family had no desire to move back to the scenes of the great wreck. Ruth very much wanted to enter the Kansas university, located at this place. So on September 2nd we moved at the foot of the hill, on top of which the numerous beautiful buildings of the Kansas university stand. We are delighted with the city and with the university. Lawrence has more beautiful residences, more abundand shade trees, more paved streets and side walks, than any other city of like size I have ever visited. Kansas is a model progressive state. Lawrence, the seat of her great state university is a model city. I am glad I went to Oklahoma when we did, just in time to vote out the liquor traffic, and to help establish her in prohibition, the first state of the kind to be admitted into the union. But I am glad we are here in the great progressive, prohibition state of Kansas. We have here a splendid soil; blue grass grows here spontaneously everywhere. In this respect it makes us think of Illinois. The farmers here are prosperous. The products of the soil are numerous and bountiful, wheat, corn, oats, alfalfa, timothy, clover and all kinds of vegetables, are grown with profit. In this county (Douglas) is the greatest opportunity for the crowded east to find homes, or to make safe and profitable investments in the splendid farms here. Land is not as high here as further west in Kansas, for the reason that the railroad companies do not give stop over tickets till you get west of Emporia. So that here in the eastern part where we have abundant rains and hence abundant blue grass farms are cheaper than in the west where the great immigration has forced the price up. I am not in the real estate business, but will be glad to help any of the people there who seek homes or investments in this great prohibition state, in the west. Ruth has regained perfect health, and Mrs. Plowman, and myself are in better health than when we left Illinois and expect to make this our home while on earth we stay. With hearty greetings to all the old friends, I am

Your brother,
A. L. Plowman,
300 W. Adams street, Lawrence, Kansas.

ELKS PLAN TO BUILD NEW HOME

WILL ERECT STRUCTURS TO COST FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Fifteen Members at Last Night's Meeting Subscribe $5,000 — Bernard Gause Chairman of Committee—Square to be Site of Building.

At a regular meeting of Jacksonville Lodge No. 682, B. P. O. E. held Wednesday evening, it was voted to build a new Elk home to cost approximately $50,000. Fifteen members came forward with subscriptions amounting to $5,000 and from present indication such an impetus was given the movement last evening, which will result in another building for Jacksonville.

For several years the Elks have had under advisement the building of a new home, but the time never before seemed ripe to launch the projct. There has also been considerable talk among the members relative to buying some building, which could be converted into a commodious home.

While no special place has been selected for building the quarters it is the wish of the majority of members that it might be somewhere on the square, instead of in the residence district. While no definite plans were talked over as to the size, arrangement or material, it was the sense of the meeting that somewhere between $45,000 and $50,000 would be put into the building. The Elks have on hand at the present time $25,000 and see their way clear for the balance of the amount.

Bernard Gause was appointed head of the building committee and a meeting has been called for Wednesday night, Oct. 23, when more definite arrangements will be made, and other committees will be appointed. It is planned to lose no time in beginning actual operations and it is the wish of the order that the new home might be completed within a year.

REVIVAL AT MURRAYVILLE.

The revival meeting in the Methodist church at Murrayville, under the evangelistic work of Rev. J. B. Beadles is growing in interest. There have been thirteen conversions. The threatening weather and the state fair has reduced the attendance this week somewhat, but the meetings will continue all next week.

THE BIRTH RECORD.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Vroner, Monday, a daughter.

The selection of your Fall Suit and Overcoat should not be potponed. Those who choose first get the cream of the choice. The seasonable weather demands heavier wearables. Perhaps you're going to the FAIR or away from home. In either event, there's decided advantages in your purchases at home. You avoid the confusion and worry; more careful selection, and often a saving in price. Good clothes among strangers is your passport.

Light Weight Top Coats, Slipons and Cravenetes; $5.00 to $25.00.

Sweater Coats---Largest selection ever shown. V neck, Byron and Shawl collars, for Misses, Boys and Men---every color and size, $1.00 to $7.50.

Moeller-Luken.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Luken at Orleans was the scene of a very pretty home wedding Wednesday when at high noon their daughter, Miss Carrie, became the bride of J. Fred Moeller of Breckenridge. They were accompanied by Miss Matilda Richardson and Theodore Moeller, a brother of the groom.

While Mrs. H. Hallerberg played Mendelssohn's wedding march the bridal party marched into the parlor and took their places under a pretty arch of asparagus, at the back of which was a large bank of flowers. Rev. J. G. Kuppler, pastor of the Salem Evangelical Lutheran church of this city, gave an address, after which the wedding ceremony was said by Rev. H. Hallerberg of Arlington, Neb. During the congratulations a musical program was furnished by Misses Carrie and Nellie Grassly of Chicago.

The bride wore a gown of white silk embroidery net and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and the bridesmaid wore white Persian lawn and carried Killarney roses. The Luken home was handsomely decorated for the occasion with flowers, asparagus and autumn leaves.

Following the ceremony a three course wedding dinner was served, after which a number of toasts were responded to, Rev. Mr. Hallerberg acting as toastmaster. Among those who spoke were Charles Bennett, Frank Drury, George Horn and Rev. J. G. Kuppler.

The bride, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Luken, graduated from the literary department of the Illinois Woman's college in the class of 1905 and has a large circle of friends. The groom is a son of Fred Moeller of Breckenridge, and is a farmer by occupation. Their many friends will extend congratulations. After a brief wedding trip they will reside on the home farm near Orleans, and Mr. and Mrs. Luken will move to this city.

Miss Helen Poffenbarger and Mr. Ira W. Cline were married Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at their own home at 618 Routt street. Rev. Mr. Darsie of the Christian church said the words which made them man and wife. The bride was attended by Miss Irene Simms and the groom by Mr. Allyn Simms.

Both are young people highly esteemed by their many friends. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Cline of Meredosia and is by trade a mechanic. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Poffenbarger, deceased.

The bride was prettily attired in a gown of white embroidered voille over white silk and carried white carnations. Her attendent wore a gown of pink silk and also carried white carnations.

After the ceremony light refreshments were served. Only the immediate friends and relatives were present. The young people will live here but Mr. Cline is at present employed on a dredge boat at Meredosia.

Cooper-Hadden.

The marriage of Mr. L. Clyde Cooper and Miss Clara Mabel Hadden was solemnized Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, seven miles northwest of the city, Rev. A. A. White, of Tuscola, Ill., officiating.

The Hadden home was beautifully decorated for the marriage. The parlor was made attractive by the use of yellow chrysanthemums and in the living room where the vows were said, white and green were used, a canopy being made in the corner of the room, from which was suspended a large wedding bell.

Preceding the ceremony Mr. Chas. A. Rowe sang "Oh, Phomise Me" and "I Love You Truly" and Miss Mattie Deatherage of Waverly played the wedding march from Lohengrin and after the wedding Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The bride wore a gown of embroidered voille trimmed with baby Irish lace and voile bandings. She wore a veil and carried a shower bouquet of brides roses. She is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hadden and is a young woman of a beautiful character and life. She is talented in a great many ways and possesses a pleasing personality. After the marriage an elaborate luncheon was served by Vickery & Merrigan. The dining room was decorated in pink. A large wedding cake bearing the letters H. and C. was in the center of the table and on the four corners were candelabra, surrounded by pink carnations, which made a very pretty effect.

The young people received many handsome and useful presnts. They left last night for St. Louis and expect to visit in Springfield on their return home. They will reside about two miles northeast of Concord.

There were about ninety guests present, including friends from Springfield, Ipava, Literberry, Jacksonville, Lynnville, Concord. Mrs. John O'Keefe was among those from Springfield and William O'Keefe from Chicago.
